Message from the January 2013 Chairwomen of the Month Committee

Have a “Happy Holidays” and wonderful and “Happy New Years”!

It’s that time of year again! Join us for a wonderful way to initiate 2013—at our annual AAUW Authors Luncheon—on Wednesday, January 23 at the Rinconada Country Club. This event helps us to support state and national scholarships for women and girls. It has proven to be one of your favorite events of the year.

Sign up today! We have included the Author’s Luncheon flyer in both the December 2012 and in this January 2013 Grapevine issues for your convenience. Please mail your reservations to Virginia Turner by the deadline, January 15, 2013.

The slate of authors this year is a real winner! From C.W. Gortner’s historical fiction novels, to Alice A. Carter’s beautiful illustrations, to the warmth and humor of the ladies of The Grammie Guide — what a diverse and interesting group! And we are fortunate again to have Claire Teel of Hicklebee’s attend with many books for your browsing (and buying).

We chose the luncheon menu with care – please note that you can request a vegetarian meal if you wish.

I look forward to welcoming all of you on Wednesday, January 23!

Our annual Holiday Party was a fun, festive and fabulous afternoon. We had 54+ people attend. The delicious appetizers, decadent desserts and lovely wines added just the right touch to the occasion.

Kudos goes to Barbara Oggerino and Gail Pedersen for their hard work. A big thanks to Nancy Anderson for hosting the event at her beautifully holiday decorated home.

Within our branch are many people who work hard for the benefit everyone. The branch would dissolve without their work and dedication. Please consider taking on a leadership role to assist and move the branch forward this next year.

–Geraldine Williams, January Chairwomen of the Month

JAN EBY

The inner child is alive and well in Jan Eby. As an elementary school teacher and mother of two, early childhood/parent educator and now as a grandmother of five, she has touched the hearts of countless children through fun and discovery. Outdoor exploration, dramatic arts through storytelling, songs and puppet shows are among her favorite ways to interact with children.

LAURIE MOBILIO

Laurie brings to the Grammie team her more than twenty years experience in business. While raising her children, she launched her own word processing and editing company.

Her five grandchildren see another side of Laurie. They call her “Boppy,” a whimsical name that reflects her willingness to engage in active play and create games out of thin air.

LYNNE NOEL

Lynne taught elementary school both in New York and Pennsylvania prior to having her own two children. After a move west, she worked with families for almost 30 years as an award-winning director and teacher at a parent participation nursery school in Sunnyvale, CA.

When not traveling, Lynne and her husband savor time spent with their six grandchildren.

CINDY SUMMERS

Cindy chose teaching as her profession and developed and implemented a cutting-edge program for mainstreaming mentally handicapped school-aged children into the public school system.

Continuing to be busy with her job, voluntarism and family responsibilities, Cindy always finds time for her six young grandchildren.

The Art of National Geographic: One Hundred Years of Illustration, (National Geographic, 1999).

For more than a century, the National Geographic Society's illustrators have taken readers to places beyond the reach of the camera's lens, on extraordinary journeys of the imagination, to destinations that can be seen only through the artist's eye.

"The Art of National Geographic" explores science and nature, humankind's accomplishments and conflicts, and all the wonders of the universe. In the book's lively and informative text, Alice A. Carter, an award-winning illustrator herself, reveals as much about the behind-the-scenes adventure of creating this art, and the science behind it, as it does about the artists themselves.

For art lovers, armchair explorers, history and science buffs alike, "The Art of National Geographic" is at once a glorious visual treasury and an invaluable reference.

More Books — Cecilia Beaux: A Modern Painter in The Gilded Age, (Rizzoli, 2005) the winner of the 2006 Umhoefer Prize for Achievement in the Humanities, The Red Rose Girls: An Uncommon Story of Art and Love, (Abrams, 2000 and 2002), and The Essential Thomas Eakins, (Abrams, 2001).

The Queen's Vow: A Novel of Isabella of Castile (2012), By C. W. Gortner

"No one believed I was destined for greatness".

So begins Isabella's story, in this evocative, vividly imagined novel about one of history's most famous and controversial queens—the warrior who united a fractured country, the champion of the faith whose reign gave rise to the Inquisition, and the visionary who sent Columbus to discover a New World. Author C. W. Gortner envisages the turbulent early years of a woman whose mythic rise to power would go on to transform a monarchy, a nation, and the world.

Young Isabella is barely a teenager when she and her brother are taken from their mother's home to live under the watchful eye of their half-brother, King Enrique, and his sultry, conniving queen. When the Moors of the southern domain of Granada declare war, a violent, treacherous battle erupts, one that will test all of Isabella's resolve, her courage, and her tenacious belief in her destiny.

More Books — The Tudor Conspiracy, (2013); The Tudor Secret, (2011); The Confessions of Catherine de Medici (2010), The Last Queen, (2006); and The Secret Lion, (2004).

What's Happening with Our Federal Health Care Law Exchange – Called “Covered California”

What's happening to the Affordable Care Act now that President Obama has been re-elected? Some of the states (California is one of them) have set up exchanges on the Internet so that people can shop for insurance. Some states have ignored this situation in the hope that Governor Romney would be elected and repeal the Act. The Administration has extended the signup period, but some states are saying—“Oh, let the Federal Government do the whole thing!”

The Exchange in California, formerly known as California Health Benefit Exchange, is now called “Covered California.” Insurance coverage will begin in 2014, with the period before then being the sign-up time. Between 3 and 5 million people are expected to enroll within two years. Approximately 3.25 million uninsured who qualify for Medi-Cal or other subsidized health plans will be eligible under Covered California. Another target is the 1.45 million Californians who are currently insured by individual health insurance and will qualify under this plan.

Individual Mandate

The individual mandate provision of the Affordable Care Act has been the most controversial and debated piece of the law. This mandate requires that all American citizens obtain health care coverage beginning in 2014 or face a penalty tax. This specific provision of the law has been the subject of many law suits in both state and federal courts since the enactment of the law. The US Supreme Court has heard the case for the constitutionality of the individual mandate as well as related aspects of the Affordable Care Act and ruled in late June 2012 that the mandated tax is constitutional.

All persons are “applicable individuals” and subject to the individual mandate and its penalties unless they fall into one of these four categories:

- They are a prisoner.
- They are an undocumented alien.
- They are healthcare sharing ministry members.
- They are someone for whom healthcare goes against their religious conscience.

The following categories are also considered exemptions:

- Coverage is unaffordable (exceeds 9.5% of household income.)
- They do not meet the filing threshold for purposes of income tax filing.
- They are Native Americans.
- They have a short lapse in coverage (less than three months since they had minimum essential coverage).
- They have suffered a hardship.
- They are a dependent.
- They reside outside of the United States.

–Healthcare Update provided by Barbara Lea

Every year the members of the Homeless Committee get together for a Holiday Potluck Party at Nancy Anderson’s home. It’s not just to celebrate the season, or enjoy each other’s company, or eat a delicious lunch (though we do that). No, we had something much more important to do: We wrap all the gifts we’ve been collecting for ‘our ladies’ of the Commercial Street Inn Shelter for homeless women and children. We also firm up the details of the dinner that we are planning to take downtown to the Commercial Street Inn (CSI) for them to have a holiday meal.

As we enjoyed our luncheon, I asked everyone if they would like to hear a ‘heart-warming’ story. They said “Yes, of course”. I told them that I was at the store called Big Lots several days before, paying for my purchases, when the cashier said there was something wrong with my check I had written. Before I could pull out my credit card, the young woman behind me in the line said: “I’ll take care of that!” When, flabbergasted, I said “What?”, she told me that she would like to care of it. When I asked her (Shawna was her name) if she was sure, she smiled and said “I enjoy ‘playing it forward’, and she whipped out her credit card, and it was a ‘done deal’.

I told Shawna that I wanted her address to send her a Christmas card, and she gave me her business card. The Christmas card I sent her contained the information that her gift was, in fact, ‘playing it forward’. For she had paid for the gifts I was buying for ‘our ladies’ of CSI, and that there were no more appreciative and thankful recipients of our gifts than could be found anywhere else. So, her generous gift to me was really “playing it forward”.

What a blessed start to a wonderful ‘giving season’.

Update on Our Appeal to Support Local Women & Girls!

We are grateful to everyone who has responded so generously to our letter asking for financial support for our three local ISPF projects (Tech Trek, Local Scholarships and the Committee for Homeless Women and Children). Currently 28 members have contributed a total of more than $4,700 which means that we have provided one full campership for a middle school girl to attend Tech Trek, one scholarship for a women transferring from West Valley College to a four-year college, and much needed support for homeless women who use the services of the Georgia Travis Center.

Contribution can still be made to any or all of the three ISPF projects. Make your check payable to ISPF – AAUW and send it to Louise Quenon. (20297 Thelma Ave, Saratoga, CA 95070). Of course donations are tax-deductible. Your generosity will truly make a difference to these women and girls.

We would welcome new members to join the Committee to Support Local Women and Girls, call one of the co-chairs, Virginia Turner at 408-866-4234 or Charlene Bunger at 408-440-0063.

News from AAUW-CA President

Working with Our Collaborators

I have been working with a coalition of women's organizations, headed by the Legal Aid Society-Employment Law Center of San Francisco to ensure that the Federal Employment and Housing Act's (FEHA) pregnancy regulations provide the protection to pregnant workers that the FEHA mandates.

We just received the great news that the regulations were approved by the Office of Administrative Law and will be published on December 30. This group has been working for two years to guarantee these rights for pregnant workers. AAUW CA will be included in the upcoming joint press release.

Promoting AAUW

I can't tell you how many times I talk with women who say, "Why haven't I ever heard of AAUW?" We all need to talk about AAUW every time we are "out and about" and we all should have AAUW brochures in our purses to share when this questions is asked! There are so many women who need to connect with the work that we do through the five AAUW Funds programs: Educational Opportunities Fund, Legal Advocacy Fund, Eleanor Roosevelt Fund, Leadership and Public Policy. Order brochures from Shop AAUW on the AAUW website.

I wish you a happy and healthy December and a peaceful New Year. I won't have much AAUW news to share with you the first week in January as I'll be taking a couple of weeks to cruise the Western Caribbean. A little vacation will help get me ready to "Give AAUW My All in 2013".

All the best to you and yours,

–Alicia Hetman
